DRAFT ABSTRACT

Aim is to initiate and stimulate the interaction between demanding and supplying partners of climate services in Latin-America. Examples will be presented of experiences, best practices, challenges and opportunities, after which the participants will be encouraged to exchange ideas.

Participants from the audience get the chance to pitch a problem for discussion in smaller groups.

After the presentations there will be small break-out groups that discuss statements made by the presenters and pitchers.

At the end all participants are requested to contribute their views on practices, challenges and opportunities to the “wrap-up -board”.
